HUNS FILLED WITH TERROR.

American Troops Have Humiliated German Military Leaders, Says Senator Lewis.

An Atlantic Port, Sept. 23.—Senator James Hamilton Lewis, of Illinois, arrived Saturday from a trip to France and England.

"It was the United States whose counter offensive led the way to driving the Germans fifty miles to the rear," said the senator.

"This humiliation of the German military by the fresh troops of America has filled Germany with a sensation of wonder and terror.

"The spirit of German monarchs and the German military captains has been shattered by the knowledge that the people of Germany have awakened to realize that Prussia has brought upon Germany the weight and power of America, which means the end of German domination and the destruction of what was the hope of the German people—a great commercial and scientific people in what was a peaceful Germany."

In these words, Senator Lewis, personal envoy of the president to Great Britain, France and the battle front, summed up the changes in Germany's morale wrought by "America's answer" through the crusaders under Pershing.

FAILS TO FIX BLAME

Coroner's Jury Investigates Fatal Auto Accident—Six Witnesses Heard—Testify Motor Car Was Going About Fifty Miles an Hour—Boisseau's Body Sent to Petersburg, Va.

A coroner's jury which met at 4 o'clock Saturday afternoon at Wheatley's mortuary chapel to investigate the circumstances attending the death of Richard W. Boisseau, a Petersburg, Va., contractor, who died Saturday morning from injuries sustained Friday night when his automobile ran into a repair car of the Washington-Virginia Railway Company at Hume crossing, Alexandria county, gave a verdict to the effect that his death was due to injuries sustained in a collision between an automobile driven by him and a car operated by employes of the railway company.

The jury, however, failed to fix the responsibility.

A total of six witnesses, all of whom were employes of the Washington-Virginia Railway Company, and all of whom were on the repair car which car was enroute to the Four-mile run power house to "turn in," were heard by the jury.

Ernest M. Cook, a lineman employed by the company, whose home is in Vienna, Va., and who was acting as motorman of the car, was the first witness to testify.

His testimony was to the effect that when about 150 feet before reaching the crossing he saw the motorist; the car witness was in charge of was not going more than four to six miles an hour, that the automobile driven by Boisseau was going at the rate of between fifty and sixty miles an hour; that the motorist ran into the corner of the repair car; that when the motor car was about 150 feet away a man warned the approaching motorist by waving his hand ;that his car was going slower all the time because men were jumping off to catch a passenger train to carry them to Arlington Junction in order that they could board a Falls Church car at that junction to reach their home.

Cook said nothing he could have done could have prevented the accident. When he first saw the motorist he said his car was going about eight or ten miles an hour. The automobile he said knocked his car off the track and it broke a telegraph pole when it went into a nearby ditch. His car he said he did not think could go over twelve miles an hour. Witness admitted there were no lights on the outside of his car, but lights were burning on the inside of it.

Others on the car at the time of the accident to testify, whose testimony, was substantially the same, included Walter Roles, lineman, Vienna; William A. Wood, lineman, Vienna; James H. Thompson, lineman, Fairfax Courthouse; C. Testerman, lineman, West Falls Church; S. C. Wood, employed on line car, Vienna.

During the progress of the inquest it was stated that the man who waved to the automobilist was F. W. Childs, a Pennsylvania railroad locomotive engineer, whose home is in Washington.

The jury was composed of Kenneth W. Ogden, foreman; George H. Schwarzmann, John M. Reid, Frank W. Latham, Alfred Thomson and John G. Cockey.

The relatives of the dead man were represented at the hearing by Attorney H. Noel Garner and Attorney James R. Caton represented the railway company.

The body of Boisseau was shipped Saturday night to his late home in Petersburg, Va., for burial. His father and other relatives accompanied the body to that city.

The condition of Miss Mabel Long, Washington, who was in the car with Boisseau at the time of the accident, is improving. She sustained a broken leg and bruises.

RICHMOND TONIGHT

"Johanna Enlists," featuring Mary Pickford at the Richmond tonight is a story that fairly scintillates with clean sparkling comedy, cleverly offset by timely touches of pathos. One cannot but help sympathize with the romantic Johana, as portrayed by Miss Pickford, ere the neglected drudge blossoms forth into the much adored belle of the gallant 143rd Regiment, nor refrain from mirth when the milk bath episode is staged, as well as other laughable incidents wherein fate humorously assists her. Excellent support is accorded the leading lady by a capable cast and the action swings along smoothly and swiftly to a delightful climax.

The element of surprise is well held in reserve, for it is not until the finish that one becomes absolutely certain just which of the suitors has captured the heroine's affections, a very telling point in the art of keeping the heart interest alive all through a picture.

TO ASSIST REGISTRANTS

Task of Helping Men Fill Out Questionnaires Begun Today — Sixty Citizens Designated for Work—Ten to Serve Daily at Rooms of Draft Board.

The Local Exemption Board is sending out questionnaires for all registrants up to and including thirty six years of age, which questionnaires will have to be properly answered and returned promptly to the Local Exemption Board, as the War Department desires classifications to be completed by October first or as soon thereafter as possible.

The Legal Advisory Board is cooperating with the Local Exemption Board in this important work, and sixty qualified citizens of Alexandria have been designated as Associate Members of the Legal Advisory Board to aid in this work.

These gentlemen have been divided into six groups of ten each, so that ten men can serve each day during the week, except Sunday.

In the opinion of the Legal Advisory Board this work can be completed in two weeks, but in order to accomplish this it is essential that those selected for this work give their complete co-operation.

This work will be done at the rooms of the Local Exemption Board on the second floor of the City Postoffice for Alexandria City registrants, and at the Alexandria County Court House for Alexandria county registrants.

All Alexandria city and county registrants should take notice of this as assistance will be rendered the registrants only at the above mentioned place, and between the hours of 8 a. m. and 5 p. m.

No war work is of more importance than this, and it is earnestly hoped that those designated will not only be willing but glad to serve.

Those designated to serve in Alexandria city are the following:

Work Started Today.

There was considerable activity today in the rooms of the local exemption board which was crowded with registrants who are being assisted in filling out their questionnaires by a committee of ten citizens. Throughout the day the assistants were kept busy with the work.

Members of the local board also are kept busy sending out questionnaries to the registrants, and it is expected that the registrants will at once have them filled in and returned to the local board. Just as soon as the work is completed the board will proceed to classify the men.

Questionnaries to men from thirty-six to forty-six years old, will be mailed after this work is completed.

Archbishop Ireland may not live through the night. He slept little during the afternoon and was unconscious at 6 o'clock yesterday afternoon.

Already there are some of the leading stars of the country in their line at this big camp. Cobb, however, will be the first of the baseball stars to take up training at this camp.

SIXTEEN PINTS FOUND

Negro Woman Tells Police Where to Find a Satchel Filled With Bottled Whisky.

Last Saturday night Edna Lee, colored, was arrested on the charge of defrauding a boarding house in the western section of the city. Upon her arrival in this city several weeks ago she alleged that she had been robbed of sixty-six dollars. A colored woman suspected of the theft was taken in custody, but subsequently released for lack of evidence. There was every reason to suppose the prisoner was endeavoring to leave the boarding house surreptiously. She was given until today to pay the bill of $30, or be sentenced to jail.

Before being escorted to an upper room at the station house the woman alleged that a satchel containing bottled whisky had been taken into the boarding house. Officers repaired to the place and found a satchel containing sixteen pints of bottled liquor. The woman also said that George Sims had brought the whisky into the house. The latter was arrested before ten o'clock and the whisky captured. An examination of the case followed when the keeper of the boarding house testified to seeing Simms carry the satchel into the house and did also a young colored man employed at the place. Simms waived examination and was sent to the grand jury.

The woman who had been held for non-payment of her board bill later shouted and made so much noise that it became necessary to place her in a cell on the first floor. She later pretended to be dead and lay on the stone floor as rigid as a corpse. The police endeavored to arouse her, suspecting that she had swallowed poison telephoned for Dr. Jones. He responded and after an investigation announced that the woman was playing 'possum.

Several unimportant cases were disposed of in the Police Court this morning.

DOUBTS POLITICAL CRISIS

Looks With Suspicion on Reports of Parliamentary Movement.

Paris, Sept. 23.—All leading French newspapers, conservative and radical alike, are unanimous in taking a skeptical attitude toward the reports of a German government crisis and a movement in the Kaiser's empire. The Paris press warns that the reports may have been purposely spread in order to deceive the allied peoples, leading them to believe Germany, by "liberalizing" her internal system, is meeting democracy half way.

Le Journal des Debats, for instance, calls the reported agitation "camouflaged democracy," while Le Temps warns its readers that the German militarization of Finland under a German king does not harmonize with the reform talk coming from Berlin.

BULGAR PRESS WANT PEACE

Zurich, Sept. 23.—The Bulgarian press is unanimously in favor of peace according to information obtained here today.

"It is high time to listen to reason," declared the Prepore.

"The success of the entente in France cannot be denied," the Vir says.

"For accomplishment of peace," says the Narod, "it is necessary that the period of negotiations, which are on the verge of beginning, shall be terminated as quickly as possible.

Zurich, Sept. 23.—The Soviet government of Russia has joined in the Austrian proposal for peace negotiations, according to rumors contained in dispatches from Kovno.

PRESENT MILITARY MAP

American Salient Points Through Natural Gateway to Hunland.

Paris, Sept. 23.—The Temps declares the Germans are evacuating Cambrai, sending the inhabitants to Mons.

Amsterdam, Sept. 23.—The Kaiser visited the Alsace-Lorraine front Thursday and Friday, thanking the German armes there for bravely holding out, according to the Lokal Anzeiger.

The military maps at the War Department show that allied and American armies, slowly but continually advancing, are perfecting a ring of iron around the Teutonic nations.

On the Westeren fornt the American and French field armies, by taking position opposite the "natural gateway" into Germany via Metz, have completed that part of the ring that threatens Germany from the West.

On the Italian front Italy, with reinforcements from the Americans and allies, is a part of the ring, and is standing ready to strike again.

On the Macedonia front the Serbians, backed by British, French and Greeks, are cutting off Turkey from the two German nations.

On Germany's eastern frontier a cloud is gathering, which, with the assistance of the patriotic people of Russia, will seriously menace Germany and her so-colled liberated provinces next to the Russian western border. The ring of iron from the land sides will be actually a military fact when, as heretofore pointed out, the Anglo-French-American army moving southward from the Murmansk Peninsula meets and combines with the Czecho-Slovak, British, American and Japanese forces which are steadily pushing on towards Samara in the Province of Orenberg.

BASE HOSPITAL AT HUMPHREYS

Soldiers Wounded Overseas to be Treated—Accommodations for 1,500.

Camp Humphreys, Va., Sept. 21.—American soldiers recuperating from wounds received overseas will be brought to the new base hospital at Humphreys and rehabilitated both in mind and body until they are able to assume their former occupations or given the opportunity to learn new ones.

When completed the camp hospital will be run in conjunction with the Walter Reed Army Hospital at Washington and used as an overflow hospital for wounded soldiers from the capital.

When all the wards are completed the base hospital here, which is under the command of Col. Charles E. Doerr, will have accommodations for 1,500 patients, making it one of the largest in the country. The commissioned and enlisted personnel of the base hospital, which now consists of sixty officers and 300 enlisted men, will soon be increased by the addition of enlisted men of the Medical Corps.

Convalescents from the base hospital will also be assigned temporarily to the development battalion until they regain strength sufficient to rejoin their regiments. As far as possible heart, lung and foot cases will be assigned to separate commands to make their training suited to their several complaints.

Capt. F. B. Stalson of Germantown, Pa., has been appointed camp personnel officer. He will be assisted by First Lieut. H. W. Angier, of Massachusetts, Second Lieut. W. N. Sayer of Newport, R. I., and Second Lieut. H. W. Tabor, of Missoula, Mont.

GRAND THEATER

So vast is the scope of scenery offered at Triangle's ranch studio Hartville, that but two outside locations were necessary in the making of the latest Triangle Western drama, "The Medicine Man," in which Roy Stewart is featured at the Grand Theatre tomorrow.

The story is woven around a Western mining town and on the Hartville ranch lying in the heart of the Santa Monica mountains and embracing eighteen hundred acres. Director Cliff Smith found almost everything needed in the way of atmosphere from the mining camp itself to the adobe residence of the priest, where the villian sought to force a marriage between himself and the beautiful young heiress.

A William S. Hart picture also will be shown.

"THOU SHALL NOT KILL."

In pursuance of announcemet, Rev. Dr. John Lee Allison, pastor of the Second Presbyterian Church in this city, last night dellvered an address on the commandment "Thou shalt not kill."

The doctor, among other things, said the words should be rendered "Thou shalt do no murder," and that the revised version so translated the commandment. He showed the difference between murder and killing in carnage, which it is unnecessary to reproduce, as it must be apparent to every one that there is a material difference.

A few days ago, at a meeting of clergymen in Philadelphia, one doctor of divinity read a paper arraigning the churches for inefficiency in not saving the world from this war, and the following paragraph is attributed to him:

The war grows out of a wrong state of mind of the people, and this raises the fundamental question: Could not the churches have created a state of mind which would have made war impossible? There is a failure somewhere, and it is useless to try to blink the facts. The churches have failed to create a Christian state of mind in the peoples under their tutelage. They have failed to give the nations a strong and wise leadership. Surely 1900 years is long enough for the churches to have understood some of the things of Christ, and to have gone some distance toward the Kingdom of God.

The paragraph that we quote looks very much as if this teacher of religion and morals were unable to distinguish between the highwaymen, the traveler whom he assaulted, and the policeman who overpowered him. They were all fighting together, and fighting is unchristian, and the fight was due to the fact that their pastors had not taught them properly.

Our ministers generally—the essayist from whom we have quoted seems to be an exception—are patriotic enough to shout loudly for the United States. But we earnestly hope that any minister of the gospel who feels moved to talk about the war will clearly fix in his mind the relative moral positions of the highwayman the traveler and the policeman.

"KILLED AND WOUNDED."

In glancing over a file of the Alexandria Gazette of 1864 we read the following, doubtless written by the elder Snowden, who edited the paper at that time. He was a pathetic writer. It evidently reflected his anxieties, he having a son who, while not carrying a gun, was on many battlefields during the four years' conflict.

"Wounded and Killed."—It takes but little space in the columns of the daily paper, but oh! what long household stories and biographies are every one of these strange names we read over and forget! Killed and wounded! Some eye reads the same, to whom it is as dear as life, and some heart is struck or broken by the blow made by the name among the list.

The younger Snowden to whom we refer was surgeon of the Alexandria Regiment (the Seventeenth Virginia), and we have heard him tell of hospital tents being struck by shells during a battle. This was, however, not done intentionally, as we prefer to believe, but in the excitement of battle. However, it was occasionally done, and at times when the surgeon and his assistants were rendering attention to the wounded.

Conditions described over half a century ago are being gradually reproduced in Alexandria. Many of our noble youths are now on the firing lines in far-away France. They have anxious relatives and friends in their native homes who scan with fear and trembling lists of casualties.

The present fearful war has placed crape upon many doors, though, so far, many Alexandrians have offered up their lives, few have fallen in the defense of their country. May the God of peace bring back safe and sound the dear ones we have "over there."

ROUNDING UP SLACKERS

Officer Bell yesterday arrested two negro youths, believed to be within the draft age, on the charge of vagrancy. Neither being able to produce a registration card, they were turned over to the United States authorities.

The authorities throughout the state are becoming active in the work of ferreting out slackers.

The work of rounding up all draft dodgers in Richomnd is steadily progressing under the direction of the Richmond division of the United States Department of Justice. One negro, charged with failure to register, and seven possible delinquents were apprehended Saturday morning and given a preliminary hearing before Commissioner Flegenheimer. All are being held for the Federal court.

The United States Department of Justice, through the State, urge all patriotic citizens to report suspected instances of failure to register, and continues to warn all registrants of the state to carry their registration cards, lest they are subjected to a hearing before a United States Commissioner and a possible term of imprisonment of one year in the Federal prison.

WAR IN THE HOLY LAND.

Dispatches today tell us of the capture of Nazareth by the allies. Recently Jerusalem was wrested from the Turks who had misruled the "City of the Great King" for centuries. Eighteen thousand prisoners were taken in Nazareth and one hundred and twenty guns.

The Saviour of Mankind was reared in Nazareth. It must have been a village in His day, as it is mentioned only in the New Testament, and seems to have been unknown until some of the church fathers in the early days of the Christian era began to write about it.

It has often been suggested that one of the outcomes of the present war may be the revival of the Kingdom of Judea. Zionists have for the last half century been anticipating this to them great desideratum.

We are living in a day of wonderful and startling transitions. While a large percentage of the followers of the Man of Nazareth suggest that the restoration of the Kingdom of Judea will not be to accomplished literally but in a spiritual sense, equally as many more believe in a literal restoration of the Jews into their own land.

Jerusalem is in possession of the friends of the Sons of Abraham, as is also the city in which Jesus Christ spent the thirty years of the time he tabernacled with men.

AMERICAN INFLUENCE

It is possible that some news from the United States may reach a few of the German people through the medium of the press of Denmark and Holland. But, as the Baltimore Sun says, the German papers, of course, falsify and the German people are kept in ignorance as far as possible of what this country is doing.

An article in a Copenhagen newspaper which has been cabled to the New York Times shows that at least in Denmark they have information from this country. The attention of the world, says this Danish paper, is directed toward Washington, not toward London or Paris. It is Wilson and not the Prime Minister of England or France who formulates the decisive answer to Austria's sinister proposal. Germany jeered at America, deeming it impossible for her to transport an army across the sea even if she had an army to transport. Our declaration of war was termed "platonic." In a country where war and military training is a business and every male citizen is a man of war from his youth up; the amateur was regarded with contempt. Europe underestimated America, says this newspaper, and before all, Germany, when instead of America's friendship and neutrality it preferred unrestricted submarine warfare which America made ineffective and American transports, carrying 800,000 soldiers in a single month, are crossing the sea in safety.

The most suggestive intimation in this remarkable article is that the achievement of America already has dealt the death blow to militarism. If America can enlist, equip and train a vast and efficient army in a year and ferry it across the Atlantic, what is the use of putting a heavy burden of taxation upon the people to maintain a great military machine through years of peace. According to the Dane, a modern war being so greatly a matter of machinery, financing and equipment, in all these things the United States is pre-eminent, and this explains to a degree their marvelous achievement in getting into the war. "The American sporting spirit," says the article, "has celebrated its greatest triumph, the war is not yet decided and it is idle to predict its outcome; but however it may end, it has brought one result—America's new position of strength, which can now hardly be disputed."

WILL THE GERMANS HEDGE?

Pan-Germanism has been promoted for 20 to 30 years by some 50 societies of which the Pan-German League, which began operations a little more than 25 years ago, has always been the most active and the most bellicose though not the largest. In its early days the Government resisted its demands—and then yielded to them. Down to the eve of the war it was the custom in Germany to speak of the league as an inconsiderable association of fanatics, but the league was steadily increasing its power over public opinion, or rather its power to create public opinion, and its influence over the Government.

The successes of the league in 1892 were responsible for the passing of the military law of 1893. Chancellor von Caprivi, hated by the League on account of his moderation was thanked by it in 1894. In 1895 the League petitioned for a naval station in China and suggested Kiau-chau, and in 1897 the Government took it. In 1896 the publications of the League pointed out Asia Minor as a field for German enterprise and arranged William II' journey to Jerusalem, which was made in 1898. In 1895 the League began clamoring for a part of the old Spanish colonies. 1898 Dr. Hasse published in the organ of the League an attack on the Kaiser for not executing t League's instructions fast enough, whereupon in 1899 the Governme annexed a part of the Samoan Islands and the Carolines.

For a little while the course of the Kaiser was peaceful, and in 1902, at its congress in Eisenach, the League, through a report made by its president demanded that the Kaiser should give up the direction of imperial policy because it was responsible for the loss of prestige which Germany had suffered since Bismarck's day. Alarmed at this, the Kaiser made spectacular visit to Tangier and insisted that France should dismiss Delcasse, the Minister for Foreign Affairs, who was particularly hateful to the League.

This brief sketch of the League as the power behind the Kaiser and the Government and public opinion is worth recalling now because Herr Fehrenbach, president of the Richstag, tells his people that it is not impossible to hope for an armistice before winter "despite the enemy's bellicose shouting." But he couples this with the warning that it will, however, be necessary for the Government to take a determined stand against the Pan-Germans."

The Pan-Germans are the fire-eaters the last-ditchers. They educated the country for this war for 25 years. This was is their work, and they have been the chief shouters for a "German peace" and for the annexation of eBlgium, much of France and the Baltic provinces of Russia. And now in holding out the possibilities of peace before the German people. Fehrenbach says the Government must take a determined stand against them. It looks as if it might be significant.

In holding out the hope of an armistice before winter, he betrays the unwillingness of the German people to suffer a fifth war winter. When November brings the Reichstag together, and more defeats have been suffered by the German army, and the fresh vegetables are gone, and the weather is getting colder, the people are likely to make themselves heard in Potsdam—Phila. TRAIN HITS AUTOMOBILE

Four Persons Killed at Crossing Near Greenville, N. C.

Greenville, N. C., Sept. 23.—William R. Wheeler, Seth Corbett, Miss Lizzie Corbett, of Walstonburg, and Miss Maude Sawyer, of Camden County, were killed about a mile west of this city last Friday when an automobile in which they were riding was struck by a Norfolk and Southern passenger train. The accident occurred at a crossing during a rainstorm, and it is thought the driver failed to see the approaching train. Miss Ruby Burch, of Walstonburg, the only surviving member of the party, was seriously injured, but physicians say she will recover.

Miss Corbett and her brother were students at the Winterville High School, of which Miss Sawyer was music teacher. They were en route to Walstonburg to spend the week-end.

News of the torpedoing of the American steam trawler, Kingfisher, on the fishing banks eighty-five miles off the coast on Friday was received at an Atlantic port yesterday when the captain of the trawler and the twenty-six members of the crew arrived after having rowed ashore in lifeboats. Captain Riley said the U-boat which fired the torpedo stood by to see the effect of the missile, but did not fire any shots at the trawler or the boats.

The Council of National Defense Urges:

Early Christmas Shopping
The Buying of Useful Gifts
And Carrying of Parcels

The Council of National Defense urges the people of this country to confine their Christmas giving (except to children) to useful articles, to make their purchases during October, November and December, so that the stores will not have to employ larger number of helpers at Christmas time.

They also request the carrying of parcels wherever possible, as a necessary measure of labor conservation.

It is none too soon to BEGIN NOW your Christmas shopping, because if these suggestions are loyally and faithfully put into effect throughout the country it will make possible a continuance of the holiday custom without endangering the national interest thereby.

We have also been requested to place these facts before our public at least once each week, and we trust the response may be so substantial as will not cause a modification of the requests of the Council of National Defense.

Your Winter's Coal Supply

On account of rulings of the U. S. Fuel Administration, it seems doubtful if Virginia will receive sufficient anthracite coal to supply the demands. If present rulings are maintained, this shortage will be very great in Alexandria and we earnestly advise our customers to put in a reasonable amount of bituminous coal as a safeguard against a coal shortage next winter.

We are now securing some very fine bituminous coal which we believe will work in all characters of coal burners but the Latrobe stoves.

VIRGINIA NEWS

A hydroplane on a maiden trip from an aerial station on Long Island, N. Y., en route to Langley Field, Newport News, came down in Gargatha Inlet, between the Atlantic Ocean and the Chesapeake Bay, Thursday night. The machine was in charge of G. C. Robinson, of Hempstead, Long Island, N. Y., and E. H. Baddard, of Garden City, Long Island, N. Y. It is supposed something went wrong with the engine and, owing to the intense darkness, the men decided to make a landing. At 9 o'clock p. m., distress rockets were seen by the coast guards on Smiths Island Life Saving Station, and the patrol guards were sent out in answer to the signal. The guards reached the airmen at 11 o'clock, but owing to a low tide could not move the plane, which had landed in the marshes about four miles from shore, and the men were forced to remain in open boats until 4 o'clock the following morning awaiting high tide, when they were taken ashore.

Five of the negroes shot by the police Saturday night in Norfolk when they attempted to rescue two negro soldiers arrested on a larceny charge, are still in the hospital. The others were discharged and turned over to the police, their injuries being of a minor nature. Attending surgeons are confident all will recover. Sergeant White was not seriously injured. Over a score of the participants in the rioting, now out on bond, faced the police court justice this morning.

REPORTS ALL WASTERS

Chief Sherry of Richmond Issues Orders to Watch Closely for Violations of Government Request.

Richmond, Sept. 23.—That the chase for wasters and slackers will be thorough is indicated by the energy with which the fuel administrators and the chief of police are working together. The chief issued orders to the captains of the three districts to have their men on the alert, and to not only take the numbers of all cars running for other than absolutely necessary purposes, but to examine permits and licenses cards. The order issued by Chief Sherry reads:

"Instruct your respective commands, until further notice, to ascertain the name and address of the driver and owner, and the name of each occupant, together with the state license number of all cars operated in this city on Sunday, and require the owner or driver to exhibit his state license certificate and city permit.

"Persons operating without the possession of the state certificate should be placed under arrest and those operating without the city permit should be reported.

"Vehicles operated by physicians, the United States government and the city are exempt from this order. Captains will forward this office on the following day with their morning report a complete list of persons found violating the government's request. This list will be turned over to A. Beirne Blair, fuel administrator.

"Officers will also observe whether persons operating their cars have the city license (red star)."

AMERICAN WASTE

English Working Folk Saving Their Money, Ours Spending Theirs.

There is a feeling that many of those who are receiving exceptionally high wages in this country as the result of the war are not showing wisdom in the matter of saving money.

The jewelry business for example, is making an exceptionally good showing at this time, and it is said to be cause of a new set of buyers, who for the first time feel able to indulge in luxuries. This is good for all concerned, if not carried too far. But there are signs of prodigality on the part of people whose income has become exceptional ,in contrast there is the best authority for believing that the British people are practicing thrift as never before and saving money despite the high cost of living.

The chairman of the National War Savings Association of Great Britain says that there are 10,750,000 holders of British war securities and more than 13,000,000 accounts in savings banks. Thousands of women who earned nothing before the war are now engaged in remunerative employment and are saving their money. Others who formerly received small wages are now making much more and they, too, are practicing thrift. All of which should carry its suggestion to the war workers of this country. Making hay while the sun shines also implies putting it under cover. —Springfield Republican.

NEWS OF THE DAY

The Kaiser is said to be seriously indisposed and has been compelled to cancel all immediate engagements.

Field Marshal von Hindenburg replying to greetings sent to him from a patriotic meeting in Juterbog said: "The first replies from the enemy camp to the Austrian note reveal our enemies' state of mind. In the face of this there can be only one watchword, "German people be hard."

America's answer to Austria-Hungary's recent peace note and the speech of Premier Clemenceau of France on the same subject should, according to the Lokal Anzeiger, of Berlin, be posted on billboards and be communicated to the German people by the distribution of millions of pamphlets. "No German man or woman who knows the contents and significance of these declarations," the newspaper declares, "can doubt that peace is attainable only either through our victory or at the price of our utter destruction."

An Austrian regiment at Rovno in the Russian province of Volhynia, is reported in a dispatch received at Basel from Kiev to have refused to go to the battle front in France. The Austrians unfolded the red flag and are said to have been joined by two other rergiments.
